Coming off last springs cage rattling instrumental sessions in Chicago, Cash Audio serves up three short doses of "Rockabluesabilly" at its finest. Although they been everywhere, they obviously hadn't been to Seattle, since the band has called it quits after Scotty decided to take a job offer and relocate. "Orange Sessions Vol II", is a post-humous release capturing the bands late period "instro-sound" at it's peak. Fans should not disdain however as this slab of wax is great introduction for John's new project "The Night Callers" who will debut as a quartet in 2003.

John from Cash Audio II also would like to note that it is their sincere pleasure to be sharing "Vol II" with long time friends the Immortal Lee County Killers II, after all it was the then "Cash Money" in which Cheetah enviously spied on and took notes from after a drunken night in New Orleans. This during the Quadrajets/Cash Money tour."

Chetley of the Immortal Lee County Killers II retorts; While staring into my whiskey after the show in New Orleans, I watched Cash Audio hop in the station wagon with their minimal amount of equipment and drive away. Meanwhile the 4 other embattled Quadrajets split the crumbs and tried to find AWOL QJ guitar-slinger Robert H. aka Mr. Hardwick. Cash MONEY (fuck those rapping lawyers who made them change their names) and the Flat Duo Jets preceded the current milieu of duos in the punk rock scene. Now that the good man, Scotty, has packed up the station wagon and left Chicago for new roads to Seattle, we've lost some old-school-cool allies. Here's two ILCK revamps of two Quadrajets battlehorses to share sides with the big boss from Chicagos East Side... Still no word from Robert.

"The Orange Session's Vol II" is a unique peak at Americas' real rock underground. No MTV, no glossy magazines for these guys. They play music not to try to make a living but because of who they are, it's in their blood.
